Dear People:

This is a letter of enthusiastic support for the current tenancy project that Nelson's Advocacy Centre is involved in. "The Guide to Trouble-Free Tenancy" promises to be an easily accessible and extremely useful tool for the average individual making crucial decisions in terms of personal housing.

We have seen some of the proofs of this work, and it will be jam-packed with useful information and helpful advice, as well as hands-on charts and checklists which anyone looking for rental accommodation would find of great value.

We recommend you assist the Advocacy Centre in the publication of this manual, as it will fill an obvious gap in self-help materials. It is particularly encouraging to see these kinds of tools being developed outside of the urban centres, with an understanding of how things work in small-town and rural circumstances reflected in its pages.

Sincerely

M.F. (Moe) Lyons
